

Physical and computational stack. Everything above the red boundary is identical in simulation and on hardware.